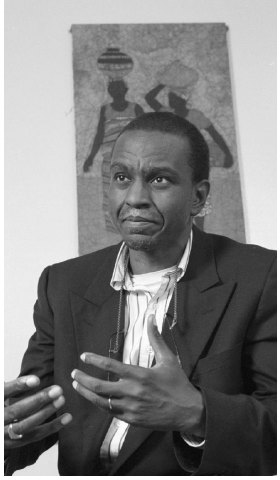
Mau Mau/Communists: Kenya, Hawaii and the Making of a U.S. President

A lecture featuring



Dr. Gerald Horne

John and Rebecca Moores Professor of History and African-American Studies
University of Houston

Thursday, April 9, 2009, 4:30pm

4th Floor Teleconference Lecture Hall

(Alexander Library, College Avenue Campus)

In this talk, Professor Horne reflects on historical forces in Kenya and Hawaii as a background story for the election of the new American President. Gerald Horne's many books include *Fire This Time: The Watts Uprising and the 1960s,(*a finalist for the Robert Park Award of the American Sociological Association, 1996); From the Barrel of a Gun:The U.S. and the War Against Zimbabwe (2001); The Deepest South: The U.S., Brazil and the Slave Trade (2007) Blows Against Empire: U.S. Imperialism in Crisis (2008); Mau Mau in Harlem? The U.S. and the Liberation of Kenya (2009); and many other books and articles. Professor Horne's talk is part of series of lectures sponsored by the Department of Africana Studies and the School of Arts and Sciences to explore contemporary scholarship in Africana Studies.

.